

Overview and Scrutiny Action Plan 2023-24

Introduction

This action plan outlines improvement activity for BCP Council's Overview and Scrutiny function. This activity has been identified as appropriate to bring O&S practices to the level outlined in the Government's Statutory Guidance on Overview and Scrutiny in Local and Combined Authorities

The actions also address recommendations arising from the Department for Levelling Up, Housing & Communities' (DLUHC) external assurance review and Best Value Notice, issued on the 3 August 2023 as well as the Chief Executive's own internal assurance review conducted in Spring and updated in Summer 2023. The resulting Assurance Review Action Plan was established by the Council to respond to these recommendations.

Guidance Note

This action plan follows the themes of the statutory guidance which are categorised as follows:

- Culture • Resourcing • Selecting Committee Members • Power to Access Information • Planning Work • Evidence Sessions

All relevant paragraphs of the guidance have been included within the action plan, to aid reader's understanding of why actions have been identified. Please note that where actions are similar (eg. reflecting different aspects of councillor training required) they remain split into separate actions to demonstrate how these will uphold the statutory guidance. It should be noted that for this reason the action plan is highly detailed and serves as an operational tool to progress actions as well as for reporting on progress.

Actions are grouped and action leads identified as per the coding set out in the key below. Where actions are duplicated, the update is provided against the first arising action. A RAG rating is used to show progress against actions along with a commentary, with the latest updates provided in blue text.

Culture
Scrutiny is Member Led
The prevailing organisational culture, behaviours and attitudes of an authority will largely determine whether its scrutiny function succeeds or fails. While everyone in an authority can play a role in creating an environment conducive to effective scrutiny, it is important that this is led and owned by members, given their role in setting and maintaining the culture of an authority.	1a	New Councillor and refresher training to be provided to include – O&S in BCP is Member led	Complete. Scrutiny is understood and recognised across the organisation
Recognising scrutiny's legal and democratic legitimacy – all members and officers should recognise and appreciate the importance and legitimacy the scrutiny function is afforded by the law. It was created to act as a check and balance on the executive and is a statutory requirement for all authorities operating executive arrangements and for combined authorities.	2a	New Councillor and refresher training to be provided to include – Background and statutory powers of O&S, to raise the profile and importance of the scrutiny function within the organisation. Scrutiny draws on community insight and selects topics of community relevance
Councillors have a unique legitimacy derived from their being democratically elected. 	3b	Strengthen O&S work selection criteria, as set out in the constitution, to include consideration of the impact and value to the public when selecting work programme topics. Review for use in annual work programming for O&S Committees. O&S scrutiny request forms ask councillors to outline the value to be added by a proposed scrutiny topic. Use of this form is now embedded across the function and O&S work programmes now include more work balanced towards the impact on BCP residents. O&S Board has selected resident impact as a lens by which to plan and approach its work and committee discussions regularly include resident impact as a scrutiny enquiry line. Officers will continue to encourage selection of O&S topics that have tangible benefit to residents.	Complete, monitor long-term.	WS1
	3c	Use is made of community insight through the selection of work topics that are driven by community need, evidence sessions, use of subject experts and data providing the view of residents and community groups. Councillors regularly suggest scrutiny topics based on their community insight and there has been an increase in topics with a public focus, with some topics being generated through matters raised to Council through public representations. Scrutiny has a clear role and focus
Identifying a clear role and focus – authorities should take steps to ensure scrutiny has a clear role and focus within the organisation, i.e. a niche within which it can clearly demonstrate it adds value. Therefore, prioritisation is necessary to ensure the scrutiny function concentrates on delivering work that is of genuine value and relevance to the work of the wider authority – this is one of the most challenging parts of scrutiny, and a critical element to get right if it is to be recognised as a strategic function of the authority	4a	Scrutiny committees agree a clear communicable role or focus for the year when planning their work programme in order to assist in topic selection and in ensuring that stakeholders can anticipate which topics are likely to be of interest to scrutiny, and plan accordingly for engagement. This may be in the form of a 'lens' (eg. risk) through which to scrutinise topics, or a key priority or set of priorities for a committee (eg. 'budget' or 'ofsted improvement plan') Three out of four O&S committees have agreed a lens for their topic selection and scrutiny approach. The Children's O&S Committee chose not to agree a lens. This will be revisited in future work planning activity to ensure the lenses remain fit for purpose.	Complete, monitor long-term.	WS1
	4b	Committees carefully consider the type and balance of work undertaken to ensure that work aims can be met within the meeting capacity available. This will require a determined focus to undertake work in diverse ways eg. - receiving information based reports outside of meetings, - establishing O&S rapporteurs (topic champions) to maintain oversight of an issue and report back to committee on exceptions - reducing the level of Cabinet decision scrutiny to free up capacity for more overview work. Pre-decision scrutiny levels fell in 2023/4 and have remained stable in 2024/25. There has been an increase in the use of rapporteurs and the approach will be further embedded in 2025/26. There were 2 additional meetings held in 2024/25 which demonstrates that committee based work is mainly keeping to meeting capacity. In 2024/25 meeting duration was long in some cases, resulting in loss of members and less effective scrutiny for some items of business. All committees would benefit from a continued consistent focus on prioritisation to keep to a maximum of 3 items per agenda.

Managing disagreement
Effective scrutiny involves looking at issues that can be politically contentious. It is therefore inevitable that, at times, an executive will disagree with the findings or recommendations of a scrutiny committee. It is the job of both the executive and scrutiny to work together to reduce the risk of this happening, and authorities should take steps to predict, identify and act on disagreement. One way in which this can be done is via an 'executive-scrutiny protocol' which can help define the relationship between the two and mitigate any differences of opinion before they manifest	10	Executive members and O&S Chairs group to consider the value for BCP in preparing an executive – scrutiny protocol. Often, the value of such a protocol lies in the dialogue that underpins its preparation. It is important that these protocols are reviewed on a regular basis.
Scrutiny committees do have the power to 'call in' decisions, i.e. ask the executive to reconsider them before they are implemented, but should not view it as a substitute for early involvement in the decision-making process or as a party-political tool.	11	Use of call-in be monitored and reflected within annual report to Council. Ensuring impartial advice from officers
Authorities, particularly senior officers, should ensure all officers are free to provide impartial advice to scrutiny committees. This is fundamental to effective scrutiny. Of particular importance is the role played by 'statutory officers' – the monitoring officer, the section 151 officer and the head of paid service, and where relevant the statutory scrutiny officer. These individuals have a particular role in ensuring that timely, relevant and high-quality advice is provided to scrutiny.	12	Officer refresher training to be provided to include – The importance of impartial advice to O&S Provided to senior officers in Winter 2024/ Spring 2025. Communicating scrutiny's role and purpose to the wider authority
The scrutiny function can often lack support and recognition within an authority because there is a lack of awareness among both members and officers about the specific role it plays, which individuals are involved and its relevance to the authority's wider work. Authorities should, therefore, take steps to ensure all members and officers are made aware of the role the scrutiny committee plays in the organisation, its value and the outcomes it can deliver, the powers it has, its membership and, if appropriate, the identity of those providing officer support.	13	Officer refresher training to be provided to include – The identity of those providing officer support to O&S. Maintaining the interest of full Council in the work of the scrutiny committee
Part of communicating scrutiny's role and purpose to the wider authority should happen through the formal, public role of full Council – particularly given that scrutiny will undertake valuable work to highlight challenging issues that an authority will be facing and subjects that will be a focus of full Council's work. One way in which this can be done is by reports and recommendations being submitted to full Council rather than solely to the executive. Scrutiny should decide when it would be appropriate to submit reports for wider debate in this way, taking into account the relevance of reports to full Council business, as well as full Council's capacity to consider and respond in a timely manner. Communicating scrutiny's role to the public

Ensuring scrutiny members are supported in having an independent mindset

Chairs are well supported by officers in regular briefings to scope and plan the level of interest anticipated in O&S work and any necessary meeting adjustments. sustaining an effective scrutiny function requires them to allocate resources to it. When deciding on the level of resource to allocate to the scrutiny function, the factors an authority should consider include: • Scrutiny's legal powers and responsibilities; • The particular role and remit scrutiny will play in the authority; • The training requirements of scrutiny members and support officers, particularly the support needed to ask effective questions of the executive and other key partners, and make effective recommendations; • The need for ad hoc external support where expertise does not exist in the council; • Effectively-resourced scrutiny has been shown to add value to the work of authorities, improving their ability to meet the needs of local people; and • Effectively-resourced scrutiny can help policy formulation and so minimise the need for call-in of executive decisions		resource is significantly higher in BCP Council than some other comparative councils. This has been well documented in O&S annual reports to Council and CMB to raise awareness. The most significant pressures relate to previous and cumulative Council decisions to increase the number of O&S committees and meeting numbers over time, not matched by officer resource to support these. Accompanied by an increase in other committees also resourced by the same team (Democratic Services) the overall resource available to support Overview and Scrutiny work has reduced whilst the level of O&S activity has increased. The impact of this has been a slow rate of progression for planned work, delays to strategic O&S work (such as annual work programme activity), limited resource available to respond to arising issues throughout the year and the likelihood that O&S outcomes have been limited in value as planned work has not benefitted from effective levels of officer support. Proposals have been made to Council in the 2025 annual report to reduce concurrent working group numbers and promote a 'quality of quantity' approach to O&S work. The outcome and impact of any changes agreed will be monitored by the O&S Chairs group and through future annual reports to Council.	ongoing monitoring

Planning Work
Effective scrutiny should have a defined impact on the ground, with the committee making recommendations that will make a tangible difference to the work of the authority. To have this kind of impact, scrutiny committees need to plan their work programme, i.e. draw up a long-term agenda and consider making it flexible enough to accommodate any urgent, short-term issues that might arise during the year.	38a	O&S committees agree a work programme annually drawing ideas from relevant sources, that enables reports to be prepared and brought to the committee in a timely way. Being clear about scrutiny's role
Scrutiny works best when it has a clear role and function. This provides focus and direction. While scrutiny has the power to look at anything which affects 'the area, or the area's inhabitants', authorities will often find it difficult to support a scrutiny function that carries out generalised oversight across the wide range of issues experienced by local people, particularly in the context of partnership working. Different overall roles could include having a focus on risk, the authority's finances, or on the way the authority works with its partners. Applying this focus does not mean that certain subjects are 'off limits'. the best opportunities to influence the authority's wider work.
Information sources
Scrutiny will need access to relevant information to inform its work programme. The type of information will depend on the specific role and function scrutiny plays within the authority, but might include: • Performance information from across the authority and its partners; • Finance and risk information from across the authority and its partners; • Corporate complaints information, and aggregated information from political groups about the subject matter of members' surgeries; • Business cases and options appraisals (and other planning information) for forthcoming major decisions. This information will be of particular use for pre -decision scrutiny; and • Reports and recommendations issued by relevant ombudsmen, especially the Local Government and Social Care Ombudsman. As committees can meet in closed session, commercial confidentiality should not preclude the sharing of information. Authorities should note, however, that the default for meetings should be that they are held in public	43a	See 30a above: Develop a library of O&S oversight information, provided in an online format for Councillors to access independently, to include - Performance, Management, Finance, Risk, Complaints, Business Cases and Ombudsman information. This will assist in 'horizon scanning' to enhance the effectiveness of O&S work planning.	See relevant action above.	L1
	43b	Presumption is made that library of information for O&S Councillors is public, with non- public information shared in appropriate alternative environment to ensure Councillors can remain informed. The presumption for information shared with O&S to be public is already an embedded practice, with appropriate consideration given on an arising basis to O&S requests for non-public information.	Complete, monitor long-term. Scrutiny members should consider keeping this information under regular review. It is likely to be easier to do this outside committee, rather than bringing such information to committee 'to note', or to provide an update, as a matter of course.	44	Support committees to work in more diverse ways to maintain oversight of key information, including circulating information outside of meetings and the use of rapporteurs or champions for particular topics. This will free up committee resource for value added scrutiny. Working methods have now been diversified to make better use of meeting resource. This action has not been marked as completed, as, although working methods have diversified, analysis of 24/25 work outputs across all committees show an overbalance of monitoring/update reports in HASC and Children's Services O&S. This is taking up time that could be used for other value-added scrutiny. These committees would benefit from an ongoing rigorous approach to committee agenda planning, to ensure monitoring work does not over balance agendas and committee time can be used to reach valuable outcomes. Officers will continue to support this approach.
Shortlisting topics
Approaches to shortlisting topics should reflect scrutiny's overall role in the authority. This will require the development of bespoke, local solutions, however when considering whether an item should be included in the work programme, the kind of questions a scrutiny committee should consider might include: • Do we understand the benefits scrutiny would bring to this issue? • How could we best carry out work on this subject? • What would be the best outcome of this work? • How would this work engage with the activity of the executive and other decision-makers, including partners?	45a	Extend the use of the 'scrutiny request form' already in place for commissioned items, to encourage consideration of the value to be added by all reports, such as scrutiny's consideration of Cabinet pre-decision items and officer proposed items. – In annual work programming for O&S Committees and ongoing, during work programming discussions at each meeting. The use of the 'scrutiny request form' is embedded for councillor requests. It is not currently used for requests to consider other items such as Cabinet items or officer proposed items. O&S Chairs have confirmed that they do not feel a documented process for officer or cabinet requests is necessary. Careful consideration of the likely benefits of all intended work prior to commencement, regardless of origin, will continue to be encouraged by officers that support O&S. Some authorities use scoring systems to evaluate and rank work programme proposals. If these are used to provoke discussion and debate, based on evidence, about what priorities should be, they can be a useful tool. Others take a looser approach. Whichever method is adopted, a committee should be able to justify how and why a decision has been taken to include certain issues and not others. Scrutiny members should accept that shortlisting can be difficult; scrutiny committees have finite resources and deciding how these are best allocated is tough. They should understand that, if work programming is robust and effective, there might well be issues that they want to look at that nonetheless are not selected.	45b	Review 'scrutiny request form' and update as appropriate to incorporate all suggested areas referenced in O&S guidance. Not started. Carrying out work
Selected topics can be scrutinised in several ways, including: a) As a single item on a committee agenda – this often presents a limited opportunity for effective scrutiny, but may be appropriate for some issues or where the committee wants to maintain a formal watching brief over a given issue; b) At a single meeting – which could be a committee meeting or something less formal. This can provide an opportunity to have a single public meeting about a given subject, or to have a meeting at which evidence is taken from a number of witnesses; c) At a task and finish review of two or three meetings – short, sharp scrutiny review are likely to be most effective even for complex topics. Properly focused, they ensure members can swiftly reach conclusions and make recommendations, perhaps over the course of a couple of months or less;	46a	Methods of carrying out O&S work are set out within the Constitution at Article 6, Rule 6.9. d) Via a longer-term task and finish review – the 'traditional' task and finish model – with perhaps six or seven meetings spread over a number of months – is still appropriate when scrutiny needs to dig into a complex topic in significant detail. However, the resource implications of such work, and its length, can make it unattractive for all but the most complex matters; and e) By establishing a 'standing panel' – this falls short of establishing a whole new committee but may reflect a necessity to keep a watching brief over a critical local issue, especially where members feel they need to convene regularly to carry out that oversight. Again, the resource implications of this approach means that it will be rarely used.
Evidence sessions
Evidence sessions are a key way in which scrutiny committees inform their work. They might happen at formal committee, in less formal 'task and finish' groups or at standalone sessions. Good preparation is a vital part of conducting effective evidence sessions. Members should have a clear idea of what the committee hopes to get out of each session and appreciate that success will depend on their ability to work together on the day.	47	Consider the appropriateness of conducting evidence sessions to scrutinise particular topics when planning annual work programmes. These will need proactive planning to ensure that sufficient resource can be made available to support effective sessions. An evidence based approach is encouraged on an ongoing basis and there has been a small increase in the inclusion of external invitees during meetings to bring insight. A larger scale evidence gathering topic on Van Life is planned for 2025/26. Planning and conducting evidence sessions is valuable but resource intensive. The approach will therefore continue to be promoted as an effective form of scrutiny to be taken up as resources allow.	Action will progress as resources allow.	WM1

How to plan
Effective planning does not necessarily involve a large number of pre-meetings, the development of complex scopes or the drafting of questioning plans. It is more often about setting overall objectives and then considering what type of questions (and the way in which they are asked) can best elicit the information the committee is seeking. This applies as much to individual agenda items as it does for longer evidence sessions – there should always be consideration in advance of what scrutiny is trying to get out of a particular evidence session.	48	New Councillor and refresher training to be provided to include – Evidence led approach to O&S, and how to conduct an effective evidence session	Complete. Chairs play a vital role in leading discussions on objective-setting and ensuring all members are aware of the specific role each will play during the evidence session. As far as possible there should be consensus among scrutiny members about the objective of an evidence session before it starts. It is important to recognise that members have different perspectives on certain issues, and so might not share the objectives for a session that are ultimately adopted. Where this happens, the Chair will need to be aware of this divergence of views and bear it in mind when planning the evidence session.	49	O&S Chairing skills training to be delivered to include how to plan for and lead evidence sessions, establish aims and manage different objectives from committee members Chairing skills training provided in Summer 2023 induction. MT2
Effective planning should mean that at the end of a session it is relatively straightforward for the chair to draw together themes and highlight the key findings. It is unlikely that the committee will be able to develop and agree recommendations immediately, but, unless the session is part of a wider inquiry, enough evidence should have been gathered to allow the chair to set a clear direction. After an evidence session, the committee might wish to hold a short 'wash-up' meeting to review whether their objectives were met and lessons could be learned for future sessions	50	O&S Chairing skills training to be delivered to include how to draw together themes and highlight key findings at the end of evidence sessions – this approach to be extended to all O&S work items to ensure Chairs can provide transparent summary of discussions. Developing recommendations The development and agreement of recommendations is often an iterative process. It will usually be appropriate for this to be done only by members, assisted by co-optees where relevant. There is still a marked reluctance amongst the broader overview and scrutiny committees to ask questions directly of officers and there are regular comments that leading councillors do not give clear answers to questions, but other councillors do not seek that clarity from officers, which they could. Since June there has been a noticeable shift in emphasis within the Council, with officers being invited to contribute on specific issues in Cabinet and this need needs to be extended to O&S committees Continue to encourage full participation and clarity of answers in all meetings, and incorporate into training for Overview and Scrutiny committee members.
Overview and scrutiny committees should continue to increase their focus on policy development and engagement rather than pre-Cabinet scrutiny.	56a	Since May 2023 significant effort has gone into reducing pre-Cabinet scrutiny levels to achieve a more even balance with other types of scrutiny. Actions to encourage this included training and development, CMB engagement to identify early policy discussion items and ongoing officer support to assist in weighing up the benefits of scrutiny topics. In 2023/4 pre-decision levels of scrutiny across all committees reduced to 21% and remained stable in 2024/25 at 29%. There was greater emphasis on earlier policy discussion with items such as debates on Devolution in 2024 being an example of this. Cabinet decisions rather than having a broader focus or looking at policy development. I was told by a range of people that politics has got in the way of effective scrutiny. When scrutiny has looked at wider issues the feedback has been more positive – I was told of a good example of scrutiny inviting the Police and Crime Commissioner and neighbourhood watch representatives to a scrutiny committee. The Centre for Governance and Scrutiny summarise scrutiny's role as providing a space to bring critical friend challenge and support to decision making; providing a way of challenging and supporting partner organisations; bringing issues that matter to local people and the local community into decision making; and surface issues that the Council should be engaging with but which are not yet part of formal decision making. From what I have seen there is an opportunity at BCP – as there is with many other councils – to develop the scrutiny role along the lines above rather than simply to focus on pre-cabinet scrutiny.
